

Pizza Time - Admin Site - Quick Start

This is a quick guide to get you up and running on the admin site of the Pizza Time website.

Access to the Admin portal is not available from the website, as an administrator you will need to bookmark its location in your browser.

You will initially be prompted to login. You should have already received a notification with your credentials.

If not, you may use the default login:

user: default pass: Noth1ng!

Regardless, if this is your first time logging in, you will be prompted to change your password. From that point, you will be sent to the admin menu page where you can view outstanding orders, completed orders for the day, and an archive of all orders since the database was created.

You will also be able to see the administrators, and update, add or delete profiles.

If you need to rebuild the database for any reason, there is a script here (clicking on it will wipe your database though):
